THE BRODHEAD FAIR.

If there is a fair within 50 miles of Stanford you can bet your boots Lincoln county will be represented. They know a good thing when they see it and consequently they took in the Brodhead fair by the hundreds. A good deal of stock from Lincoln was also there and as usual a goodly portion of the premiums went

The rain of Tuesday made it necessary to postpone the exhibition one day and it was money in the stockholders' pockets, for that carried the fair over Friday, which is the best day for crowds. There were never more people in Erodhead than were there Thursday and Friday and were well repaid. The good Rockcastle county people recognized them all as their guests and entertained them roy-

The buildings at the fair are put up with much permanency and the Rockcastle Fair Association will give exhibitions each year. They made money this year notwithstanding the big outlay and next year they will offer premiums that will bring the best horses in the State.

The officers, E. E. Protheroe, president, J. W. Tate, vice president, R. H. Hamm, secretary, and A. E. Albright, treasurer, are the right men for the places they fill and I move that they be made the officers for all time to come. They are accommodating, efficient, painstaking and have the interest of the fair at heart, more probably than any other four gentlemen in the county.

A. C. Dann got second money in the trot Friday, won the fancy turnout premium and several others. Mr. C. C. McClure, of Paint Lick, formerly a Lincoln county man, won the pace and the race. John Dudderar, also of Lincoln came second. There was only one entry in the ugly man's ring, but Hamp Reynolds would have gotten it had there D Ranev. been a dozen. Messrs. R. S. Martin and Ed Albright won premiums on their babies; two as pretty children as one could find in a day's journey. Dink Farmer and Tom Benedict won the running race with one of Mr. S. H. Baughman's crack bangtails. There were two other starters but they were not in the race at all.

The stores were all closed during the fair and the town presented a dull ap fair grounds. There was no opposing faction like there is in so many towns, but the merchants and all vied with each other in making the fair a success.

Our countyman, John Dudderar, who was driving in the pacing race, met with race, but bruised him up considerably. On rounding a short curve his sulky turned over and he was thrown out with much force, He was driving the sorrel pacer Fatty Nunnelley used to own and was going after the two-minute record when the bad luck befell him.

The Brodhead band, assisted by Mr. A. H. Kipley, of Stanford, furnished the music, which was highly complimented; Col. J. P. Chandler played the role of ring master to perfection, while Mr. R. H. Bronaugh made as fine a starter as ever handled a flag.

Pretty girls were on bad galore and more courting was done at Brodhead during the Fair than ever before in the same length of time. A delightful party at Mr. R. S. Martin's was one of the many pleasant features of Fair week.

Messrs. R. L. Ewell and J. Mort Rothwell spoke here Thursday night, when it is said the former was literally eaten up. In fact he of "little red hog" fame was not in it at all and even some of the republicans were sorry of the joint debate. Mr. Rothwell made a capital speech, I am told, and did good for the cause. The republicans here are not feeling good over their prospects in November. The free silver sentiment has invaded their ranks and is growing and they know that unless something is done Rockcastle will fall over into the democratic column. So E. C. W. mote it be.
